SEMINARIAN (?) DEFRAUDS BANKS

Posing as Student at Gettysburg Theological Seminary Man Giving George C. Parker as Name Beats Banks and Town People.

Posing for ten days as a student for the ministry in the Gettysburg Theological Seminary a young man giving George C. Parker as his name left Gettysburg Thursday afternoon for parts unknown and was on Monday found to have defrauded his boarding house keeper, Miss Toot of Chambersburg street of $15.00, the Citizen's Trust Company of $60.00; the Gettysburg National Bank of a certificate for $70.00; and John D. Lippy of a new suit of clothes.

On Friday afternoon, the bank officials hearing that "Parker" had left town suddenly, became suspicious that the checks which he had presented were not good and they communicated with the Augusta National Bank, of Augusta, Georgia, on which they were drawn. Monday evening word was received from that institution that the paper was worthless.

WANTED TO HEAR LECTURES.

The young man arrived at the Seminary about ten days ago and told the authorities at that place that he wished to stay there for a short while to look the place over with a view to entering as a regular student. He was allowed to remain and from all appearances was sincere in his affirmation that he intended to make the Christian ministry his life work. He attended a number of classes, evidently with the purpose in view of seeing whether the methods of teaching used were those by which he wished to be instructed.

No one suspected that there was anything about the man to be distrusted and he was treated as one of the other students at the institution on the hill. During his stay here he boarded with Miss Ella Toot on Chambersburg street and proved to be a desirable acquisition.

DEFRAUDS MISS TOOT.

On Thursday afternoon he went to Miss Toot to pay his bill which amounted to $5.00. In payment of this amount he presented a check, supposed to be worthless, for $20.00. Miss Toot gave him the $15.00 change and thought no more of the transaction.

After securing the funds from the woman at whose home he had taken his meals during his brief stay here he went to the Gettysburg National Bank and presented a check for $70.00. The officials at that institution hesitated about paying the money but when the young man said that he was studying for the ministry at the local seminary and it was seen that he wore clerical garb all doubt fled and the money was about to be handed out when "Mr. Parker" stated that he didn't want the cash but a certificate for the amount. This was given.

ANOTHER BANK VISITED.

The Citizen's Trust Company was the next place visited. In order to make his deception more complete here he deposited a check for $80.00, saying that he wished to open an account. He then got the cash for another check for $60.00. All three checks were on the Augusta National Bank of Augusta, Georgia. Neither place suspected anything wrong and it was not until next morning that the crookedness was discovered.

The only other places in town at which it is known that "Parker" tried his game are the Lippy and Solt tailor shops. He had a suit made by Mr. Lippy, lifted it and the account is still on the books. Mr. Solt made a dress suit for him but the fellow never made any effort to get it.

His fellow Seminarians got busy when they heard of the sudden departure of Parker and found after a brief investigation that three safety razors were missing and a book but it is not thought that anything else was taken there.

The man took the part decidedly well. He wore black and to all appearances is said to have resembled the typical "Sem." He was smooth shaven, about thirty years of age.

It is believed that the man makes a practice of this kind of work. The fact that the checks were on the Georgia bank shows that he does not operate close to his last stand. At the Citizen's Trust Company he procured a check book and it is feared he may use them to work his game somewhere else.

FELL WITH BIG KNIFE AND LAMP

Mrs. Luther D. Roth, of Bender's Church Falls down Cellar Steps with Lighted Lamp and Large Butcher Knife.

Falling down the cellar steps with a lighted lamp in one hand and a large butcher knife in the other Mrs. Luther D. Roth, of near Bender's Church, had a narrow escape from a serious accident early Monday morning.

Mrs. Roth had risen early and before it was daylight was going to the cellar to cut some ham for breakfast. With the lighted lamp in one hand and a large knife in the other she descended the steep stairway in safety until she was a few steps from the bottom when she suddenly pitched forward.

What happened is best told by Mrs. Roth who says:

"I seemed to realize my dangerous predicament as I fell, for I let go the butcher knife which dropped through my hand. At the same instant I blew out the lamp but not before some of the blazing oil had flowed over my hand and wrist. When I struck the floor all I had to do was to put out the flames on my person and I was all right."

Mrs. Roth's one hand and wrist are badly burned; otherwise she escaped injury.

This is not the first time that she has shown presence of mind. Last year she caught a large blacksnake with a hoe. The reptile wound itself about the handle of the implement and struck at her repeatedly. Mrs. Roth held on until it had tired itself out and then dispatched the snake with little difficulty.

While out gunning for crows Charles Sell, of near Scheivert's School House in Union township, shot himself in the foot inflicting an ugly wound.

Mr. Sell, has been missing chickens for some time. Recently he discovered that they were being stolen by crows. He went in search of a flock of the black fellows in the evening with a shot gun.

About 5 p. m., when about two miles from home, a twig of a tree caught the trigger of his gun, which was discharged, the contents of one of the barrels striking his left foot, badly mangled three toes of the foot.

Dr. Jordy was summoned, and after an examination amputated the second toe. The great toe, as well as the third, were painfully mangled. The loss of blood was considerable, as Mr. Sell walked the entire distance to his home after the accident occurred.

The bride is well known and has a large circle of friends in Gettysburg where she has visited frequently. Mr. Stock is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Stock, of Baltimore street, and clerk in the Gettysburg National Bank.

IN MEMORY

Of Lottie Sponseller, who died April 12, 1909, just one year ago today, 1910. Dear Lottie, thou hast left us. Thy sweet smile we no longer see. Thy sweet voice no more can cheer us; Dear Lottie, we mourn for thee. Our home is sad, O God, how dreary, Lonesome every spot.

Listening for her voice till weary, Weary for we hear it not. The midnight stars are beaming Upon a lonely grave Where sleepeth without waking The one we could not save.

Farewell, dear Lottie, thou art at rest And will forever be. You could not stay on earth with us But we can come to thee.

You are not forgotten, dear Lottie, Nor will you ever be, As long as life and memory last, We will remember our Lottie dear.

UGLY RUNAWAY

Wenksville, April 12—While Willis Bolen and Miss Afta Mummert, of Aspers, were on their way to the home of Amos Orner on Sunday the horse they were driving scared at Mr. William Yeatts automobile and ran away.

Mr. Yeatts and John Bucher were going down the hill at Harry Showers' when they saw the team ahead of them and as Mr. Yeatts blew his horn the horse saw the machine and began to run. It ran down the road toward Isaac McCauslin's and instead of keeping the road jumped the fence throwing both Mr. Bolen and Miss Mummert out. It then ran down through Mr. McCauslin's field where it caught on an outbuilding breaking it down and ran on into a wire fence behind Mr. McCauslin's house where it was stopped. The buggy was entirely broken to pieces. The team was owned by Harry Eppelman, of Aspers.

When Messrs Yeatts and Bucher arrived at the scene Miss Mummert had fainted but soon revived. Neither was seriously hurt. Mr. Yeatts took them home in his automobile.

DR. W. R. MILLER.

Sentenced to 12 Years For Killing Illinois Banker.

GUILTY OF KILLING BANKER

Twelve Years For Physician and Three For Victim's Wife.

Watseka, Ill., April 12.—Dr. W. R. Miller and Mrs. J. B. Saylor were found guilty of manslaughter for the slaying last July of J. Byron Saylor, a banker of Crescent City, John Grundy, a medicine vender of Oklahoma, father of Mrs. Saylor, was acquitted by the jury.

Punishment was fixed by the jury at twelve years' imprisonment for Dr. Miller and three years for Mrs. Saylor. The jury deliberated more than thirty-six hours.

J. B. Saylor was shot to death in the parlor of his home by Dr. Miller. Friends of Saylor alleged that there was a plot between Mrs. Saylor and Dr. Miller, who were great friends, to get rid of Saylor. The defendants alleged that Mr. Saylor precipitated his death by attacking Dr. Miller with a hatchet without provocation.

WOOD ALCOHOL KILLS ELEVEN IN DRY TOWN

Druggist's Mistake in Making Poor Whisky.

Westerly, R. I., April 12.—Eleven dead is the toll paid by the no license town of Westerly because some one in one of the many drug stores erred in mixing the ingredients of poor whisky. The deaths are directly caused by drinking whisky which in some way had come in contact with a poison, probably wood alcohol. The town is a no license town and keeps fairly tight the lid on the drug stores and kitchen barrooms. But there was a leak somewhere last week, and most of the leaks were at the same store, for it is known that three of the persons dead bought the whisky of the same firm, for the purpose of drinking or medicinal purposes.

It is supposed that the whisky is either of a poor grade being manufactured in premises as only druggists know how to manufacture it, or in some way the good whisky has become contaminated by a small amount of poison in a jug or keg of some sort. The theory that the police are working upon is that the deaths were caused by manufactured whisky, in which wood alcohol was used by mistake. Others are sick about the town, and it is feared that more deaths will follow.

All the patients were taken with pains in their stomach, followed by nausea and vomiting of a green fluid. Death came after several hours.

Final Effort to Avert R. R. Strike. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 12.—A. B. Garretson and W. G. Lee, the supreme heads of the trainmen's and conductors' unions, sent word here that they will arrive Thursday in Scranton to make a final effort to settle the wage differences of the employees of the D. & W. railroad. The strike poll on the refusal of the company to grant the graded scale obtained by the men on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad has been completed.

Jumped Down Smokestack. Ansonia, Conn., April 12.—In the discovery just made of the body of Frederick H. Smith, under a pile of soot in the bottom of the 102-foot smokestack of a local shop, the authorities believe is revealed the most remarkable suicide in the history of the state. Both of the man's legs were broken, and the police expressed the belief that Smith climbed to the top of the stack and jumped down it.

Romance at White House. Washington, April 12.—Affairs of state temporarily were forgotten at the White House when news of a spring romance below stairs came to the knowledge of the President and Mrs. Taft. Martha Peterson, first cook at the executive mansion, has become engaged to Policeman Mulvey, stationed at the White House.

PINCHOT MEETS MR. ROOSEVELT

Take a Long Drive After the Interview.

NO STATEMENT GIVEN OUT

Ex-President and Former Forester Go Sightseeing and Are Enthusiastic. Greeted — Crank Arrested at Miss Carew's Villa.

Porto Maurizio, April 12.—Gifford Pinchot, until recently chief forester of the United States, had his first drive with Colonel Roosevelt, and each was positive in the statement that they had "nothing to say." Both, however, seemed exceedingly pleased and both were in high spirits when seen by representatives of the press. When told of the exchange of congratulatory cablegrams between the syndicate of Porto Maurizio and President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt expressed himself as appreciating highly the courtesy of both officials. Former Mayor James Phelan, of San Francisco, who is looked upon as one of the leaders of the reform movement on the Pacific coast, was here, having come from Monte Carlo to see the ex-president. Neither will give an interview as to the subjects to be discussed. Phelan is a Democrat, but for years has been a close friend of Colonel Roosevelt.

Pinchot remained here over night. He talked freely of ordinary matters, but could not be induced to utter a word as to his conversation with the colonel. He evaded all questions relating to it.

After his long and mysterious talk with Pinchot, Colonel Roosevelt received a call from a couple of Franciscan monks.

After luncheon Colonel Roosevelt, accompanied by Mr. Pinchot and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel, went for a long drive. They proceeded about six miles along the Villa Caremagna, halting at one place to inspect an old chapel which is hung with seamen's votive offerings. The colonel had a long chat with the aged priest in charge, who was much interested in the little gold medal of St. Joseph, which Colonel Roosevelt carried during his entire African journey. The party then walked a half dozen miles uphill to a point where they were rejoined by the carriage. Three villages through which they had passed comparatively unobserved on their outward trip had identified the newest citizen of Porto Maurizio by the time he returned on his way back to Miss Carew's villa, and as a result of the enthusiastic greetings of the villagers the colonel's hat was more often in his hand than on his head. The carriage was frequently pelted with flowers.

When the party returned to the villa it was found that the police had arrested a young man in the garden attached to the villa. He had been admitted to the grounds by the gardener, whom he had told that he was a police agent. This seemed quite natural, as there are nearly always a number of such officials around. After the young man's arrival a real police agent came along and, hearing the gardener's story, took the man into custody. He was searched before being locked up, and on him was found a passport bearing the name of Maggiano. It had been issued at Bologna. The prisoner had no weapons. He spoke English, however, and said that he was seeking employment with Colonel Roosevelt. The police believe he is a harmless crank.

POSTAL DEFICIT SHRINKS

Expect Shortage to Be Cut Down $10,000,000 This Year.

Washington, April 12.—Basing his conclusions on the auditor's return for the first half of the current fiscal year and on preliminary returns for the third quarter of the year, which closed March 31, Postmaster General Hitchcock predicted that the first year of the present administration would show a decrease of over $10,000,000 in the deficit of $17,480,000 handed down from the preceding year.

Officers of the department attribute the extraordinary reduction shown in the rate of expenditures to certain radical reforms that were introduced at the opening of the year in the methods of handling the postal business.

FIGHT FOR OFFICE

Two Men Claim State Treasurership in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 12.—Governor Stuart appointed Congressman Charles Fred Wright, of Susquehanna, to be state treasurer of Pennsylvania for three years, beginning the first Monday of next May. The appointment is to fill the term of State Treasurer-elect Jeremiah A. Stober, of Lancaster county, who died two months ago.

State Treasurer John O. Sheatz, who now holds the office, will contest the right of the governor to appoint. To settle the question Attorney General Todd has prepared papers and will take the matter to the supreme court in order to get a decision before the date for the appointment to take effect. Sheatz claims that the death of a man who has not taken office does not create a vacancy, and that the incumbent is entitled to remain under the provision of the law requiring that he serve until his successor is qualified.

SWALLOWED A KNIFE

Insane Woman Recovering After Strange Operation.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 12.—Seventeen physicians witnessed an operation that was performed by Dr. Elliott Alden, of Pasadena, for the removal of a table knife nine inches long from the stomach of Mrs. Sarah Carlson, an insane woman. The operation was successful and Mrs. Carlson is recovering. The knife had been in the stomach several hours before the physicians could believe that the woman, who told of swallowing it, was not joking.

WATCHES FOR THIEF; SHOOT OLD FRIEND

Detective Lie in Wait 21 Nights For Robber.

Beaver, Pa., April 12.—John Hander, aged twenty-seven years, who is alleged to have attempted the robbery of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad station, was shot and fatally wounded by Joseph Moore, a detective in the employ of the road.

Detective Moore had lain in wait for twenty-one nights for the reappearance of a periodic robber who for the past year has every month or so looted the railway station. At midnight Moore claims a man tried to open the station door. Failing in this, a window was smashed and the man entered the station waiting room. Breaking open the ticket rack, the man, a raider was about to ransack the cash till when Moore opened fire in the dark.

The robber was struck twice and fell to the floor. Mashing a bullseye lamp into the face of the wounded man, Moore recognized him as a former comrade and fellow workman in the tin mills near Wellsville, O. The wounded man will die.

Moore was not placed under arrest.

Arrested on Roof on Bigamy Charge.

Philadelphia, April 12.—Found hiding behind a chimney on the roof of a house in Rockledge, a suburb, Franklin Fair was arrested and held to await requisition papers from New York. He is said to be wanted on charges of bigamy and jumping a bail bond of $2500. The house where he was arrested is owned by Mrs. Isabella Anderson, who, it is said, signed the New York bail bond. The warrant charging bigamy was obtained by a New York woman.

$15,000 Alimony For Mrs. Brokaw. Mineola, L. I., April 12.—The decision of Supreme Court Justice Putnam in the suit for alimony and separation brought by Mary Blair against W. Gould Brokaw was recorded in the county clerk's office. The court finds that Mrs. Brokaw is entitled to $1250 a month as alimony, making $15,000 a year as previously allowed. He says this sum is amply sufficient for her maintenance and is not too much for the husband to pay.

Tommy Burns Wins Fight. Sydney, N. S. W., April 12.—In the fight for the championship of Australia Tommy Burns, who was knocked out by Johnson, got the decision on points from Lang, who knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons a short time ago. The fight was for twenty rounds.

Sample Helps Frail Women

So many women are dragging out weary lives just because their digestive organs are weak. The result is poor circulation, nervousness and the verge of invalidism. It is often very unnecessary and the woman's own fault.

The first thing to do is to look to the welfare of your bowels. There the trouble usually lies. All physicians know that a large percentage of women are habitually constipated, and from this result indigestion, piles, nervousness, etc. But there is no use taking "female remedies" and things of that kind until you have started your bowels to moving. You will find that when the bowels move regularly once or twice a day all your petty ills will disappear. Take a good, mild laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for awhile and you will find yourself rapidly getting better and stronger, your bowels will regulate themselves and work at stated times, and the chronic indigestion and dizziness will disappear. Don't take strong cathartics, as they did, and learn for yourself what it will do in your own case. That will cure you, as it did them, there is no doubt.

You can obtain a bottle of your drug-gist for fifty cents or one dollar, and either size may be enough to permanently cure you. Thousands of women keep it regularly in the house and will no longer be without it, as it cured them and can be used with safety by every member of the family, down to the youngest child. That if you have never used it take the advice of Mrs. Earl A. Cox, 409 Twenty-fifth street, Moline, Ill., and Mrs. Ellen Dunagan, Muncie, Ind., and send to Dr. Caldwell for a free trial bottle, as they did, and learn for yourself what it will do in your own case. That will cure you, as it did them, there is no doubt.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 521 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

THE DAIRYMAN

It is not time yet to hang up the curriebow. As long as the cows are in the barn use it freely and carefully.

The Only Milk Preservative. The best preservative for milk is cold, and it is the only one to use. The two best friends of the dairyman are ice and cleanliness.

Good Point When Buying a Cow. Don't be fooled when buying a cow with the assertion that "she is an easy keeper." You want a cow that is a hearty eater and a big drinker.

Clean Dairying Profitable. Clean dairying pays. It was never otherwise. There has always been a big difference in price between butter made in a clean dairy and the other kind.

Don't Sell the Best Cows. Never let a buyer go in your herd and pick the best cow unless you are going out of the dairy business. Better sell the poor ones at a canning price.

Value of Proper Feeding. To make dairying profitable the cows must be of the best, and they must be fed properly the whole year through. The "feast and famine" practice is disastrous to profit in a dairy.

"I would lay awake for hours without any apparent cause, or dream terrible dreams which would bring on extreme spells of nervousness. After taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and Tonic for awhile I could sleep well, and the nervous spells have left me." MISS ALMA HUG, R. R. No. 4, Canal Dover, Ohio.

Without sleep the nervous system soon becomes a wreck, and the healthful activity of all the organs obstructed. Restful, body-building sleep accompanies the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine because it soothes the irritable nerves, and restores nervous energy. When taken a few days according to directions, the most restless sufferer will find sleep natural and healthful. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Hen manure is too concentrated a fertilizer to be put on the land liberally, as is done with other manures. It should be mixed with dust or litter while accumulating, and even then one should spread the stuff sparingly. We have known of mature apple trees being knocked out by too much kindness in the application of this fertilizer.

Treating seed corn with coal tar by stirring a small quantity of it in a peck of seed at a time so that each kernel is smeared with a little of the tar is said to keep the crows and gophers from touching the corn after it is planted. If the kernels are inclined to stick together more corn should be worked in and possibly a little flour, which will tend to keep the kernels apart.

While there is a big discrepancy between the prices which it was claimed could be got for ginseng in the craze which swept over the country four or five years ago and those which are quoted today, the returns are nevertheless sufficient to give a good interest return on the money invested, provided one has the patience to bide his time for results. The present prices of ginseng range from $4.50 to $7.75 per pound for the dried roots, the higher prices being received for the wild product, which finds a congenial home in moist, moldy wood lots where the shade is sufficiently dense to keep blue grass from getting a foothold. The roots should not be gathered before they are two years old, while much larger and a better quality of roots are secured if they are allowed to grow a longer period. In the artificial cultivation of ginseng the conditions of moisture and shade referred to are reproduced as nearly as possible, the beds being shaded by the erection of slat roofs and abundant moisture being supplied if the rainfall should not be sufficient.

CANNON'S FOES DENY HIM AUTO

Insurgents and Democrats Again Slap Speaker.

HE SHARPLY REPLIES

Again Defied Opponents and Intimated They Lacked Courage to Dethrone Him.

Washington, April 12.—Almost the entire insurgent strength of the house was joined with the Democrats in what was generally acknowledged to be an additional rebuke to Speaker Cannon.

A conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill contained an agreement to appropriate for the expenses of automobiles previously provided for Speaker Cannon and Vice President Sherman. The house reiterated its disapproval of these expenditures and by a vote of 111 to 132 refused to agree to the report, sending it back to the conferees for further consideration.

After this action had been taken Mr. Cannon, leaving the chair, went to the Republican side of the house and there delivered a speech that contained much of sarcasm and invective. He again defied the insurgents and intimated that they lacked the courage to join with the solid minority in deposing him. Encouraging his Republican colleagues and admonishing the Democrats, he declared he believed a Republican majority would be returned in the coming elections.

Minority Leader Clark made a speech, in which he insisted that, if given an opportunity, the Democrats would endeavor to realize the suggestion of Senator Aldrich that the expenses of the government might be curtailed to the extent of $300,000,000 annually.

Speaker Takes the Floor. With the eye of every member upon him, Speaker Cannon then requested Mr. Mann, of Illinois, to take the chair. He descended to the floor and made his way to the midst of the Republican side.

"Mr. Speaker," he began, "this whole controversy touching the automobile in connection with the offices of speaker of the house and vice president of the United States has not been inspired from beginning to end or encouraged or approved of by the present occupant of the speaker's chair."

Mr. Cannon explained that the proposition for automobiles had originated in the senate. Then, in a low tone of voice, which, however, could easily be heard in every part of the chamber, the speaker recalled to the attention of members the difference that had always existed in the salary of the speaker and other members.

"It is true," he added, looking straight into the eyes of Champ Clark, who occupied a seat just across the aisle, "that a desire to preside over this house when a different party may be in the majority."

Hand applause and Democratic shouts interrupted.

"Looking into the eyes of the gentleman from Missouri," said "Uncle Joe," when he was allowed to continue, "I know that if he becomes speaker he will be the same Mr. Clark that he is now."

Mr. Cannon reminded the minority leaders of the situation that would face him, and again turning to the subject of automobiles, he said he believed the speakership should be accorded the same dignity as the office of vice president.

Taunts the Insurgents. Then declaring he would be glad to abide by the action of the house, he added:

"I am quite content, but I want to notify you that unless the Republicans on this side who do not approve of the personality of their speaker have the courage to join a solid minority in deposing him, I remain speaker until March 4."

For the first time smiling upon his colleagues, Mr. Cannon continued to say that while he had not asked for the automobile, he would use the appropriation for its maintenance if voted to him. Then amid alternate applause and laughter Mr. Cannon told a story of "Blue Jeans" Williams, of Indiana, who had launched into a campaign for economy in the house, by opposing on the floor the free distribution of five cent palm leaf fans during one of the hottest summers Mr. Cannon had ever remembered.

Not only palm leaf fans, but also iced lemonade had called forth the indignation of "Blue Jeans" Williams, said "Uncle Joe." He then entered into a defense of the new tariff law, declaring to the apparent delight of the Republicans that the government had enjoyed greatly increased revenue since the passage of the Payne-Aldrich law, he referring sarcastically to "headlines of newspapers," that "rarely tell the truth and frequently give the lie to the dispatches under them."

There was more than even chance, he said, that the facts would be so well known by next November that Republicans would be returned in full control of the government.

"And again," he said, nodding and smiling upon the Democrats, "you will be shown to be false prophets as you have been during the last decade."

Amid applause Mr. Cannon took his seat.

In many sections in the north central states, where much wheat used to be grown a score of years ago, but where in recent years it has been almost entirely given up, there will be a good deal sown the present spring. In many of these localities oats are not doing as well as in the past, and wheat is proving an acceptable substitute. Where it has been tried the yield has been from eighteen to thirty-five bushels per acre, and the market price a dollar or better. In securing the seed wheat it is a good idea to buy that which is plump and is grown near home.

DR. B. C. HYDE

On Trial For the Murder of Thomas H. Swope.

Physician Accused of Killing Kansas City Philanthropist.

Kansas City, Mo., April 12.—What is expected to become one of the most famous criminal trials in the annals of the middle west began here when Dr. Bennett Clark Hyde was placed on trial for the murder of Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist, from whom Mrs. Hyde inherited nearly $400,000. It is expected that practically all this week will be consumed in obtaining a jury, and that at least two venues will be exhausted before a jury is obtained. Not less than three weeks will be consumed in getting the testimony.

Nobody expects Dr. Hyde to be convicted, the general impression being that the jury will fail to agree. Against Dr. Hyde will be forty-two witnesses, some of whose testimony will consume two or three days. The most important of these will be Mrs. Logan Swope, Dr. Hyde's mother-in-law, and her two daughters; the two analytical experts, Dr. Ludwig Hektoen and Dr. Haines, and the nurses who attended Mr. Swope and the other members of the Swope family. Hyde himself may not go on the stand. The attorneys for Dr. Hyde are quite confident of an acquittal, and it is promised that the opening statement of their case will add several new sensations to the case.

GOV. FORT SAYS PHYSICIAN LIED

Tried to Bulldoze Him Into Signing Bill.

Trenton, N. J., April 12.—With a declaration that Dr. Luther M. Halsey, chairman of the legislative committee of the State Medical society, had lied about him before he was selected governor and during his term of office, Governor Fort brought to a sudden end a hearing which he was giving upon Assemblyman Ramsay's bill to regulate the practice of osteopathy in this state. The governor's outbreak of anger was the climax of a hearing at which physicians of the old school had clashed many times with osteopathic practitioners who opposed the bill.

The New Jersey Medical society was represented by Mr. Lewis, a professor of medical jurisprudence. In urging the governor to sign the Ramsay bill Mr. Lewis quoted the governor as having declared in a public speech that he would do everything within his power as governor to maintain the high standards of the medical profession in New Jersey. Mr. Lewis construed these remarks as a promise by the governor that he would give favorable consideration to such a bill as was then under consideration.

"I never made any such remark as that," said the governor, demanding from Mr. Lewis the source of his information.

"I have it on very good authority," replied Mr. Lewis.

"Who is your authority?" persisted the governor.

"Dr. Halsey," was the answer.

Turning toward Dr. Halsey, at whom he pointed his finger, the governor added: "You have lied about me. This isn't the first time, either. You lied about me before I was a candidate for governor and you have continued doing so ever since I have been in office. You are the only man who has tried to bulldoze me into signing this bill."

Dr. Halsey turned white under the onslaught of the governor, but as he arose to reply the commotion in the executive chamber became so great that his voice was drowned. The governor immediately declared the hearing at an end and retired to his private office, while the delegation dispersed.

Big Battleship Under Flag.

Boston, April 12.—The new 26,000-ton battleship North Dakota went into commission at the Charlestown navy yard. Commander Charles P. Plunkett took command. It will take about four months to equip the ship.

While suicide requires a certain degree of physical courage, analyzed a bit it must be conceded as the abject and cowardly solution of the problem with which one may be confronted, for it involves an utter renouncing of all claims and obligations resting upon one as a result of the place he fills in life. The only honorable and heart-satisfying way out of a condition that seems unbearable is a continuance in the treadmill, if such it be, consolation coming from the thought that a fellow is doing the best he can. There never was a situation in life so bad but suicide made it several stages worse.

REARGUE OIL AND TOBACCO

Supreme Court Orders Rehearing in Both Cases.

GOES OVER UNTIL FALL

Result of Death of Justice Brewer and Long Absence From Bench of Justice Moody Who Is Ill—No Decision Probable Until New Member Is Appointed.

Washington, April 12.—Both the oil trust and the tobacco trust dissolution cases must be argued again before the supreme court of the United States. This announcement was made by the chief justice.

The reargument of these cases comes as the direct result of the death of Justice Brewer a few days after the Standard Oil case had been argued.

As Justice Moody was unable to participate in the consideration of these cases only seven justices were left to give a decision.

How the court was divided in regard to the decision is still as much a mystery as before the assignment of the cases for reargument.

Probably Closely Divided.

It is believed, however, that the court was evenly divided or almost so and that it probably was loath to give to the country a decision which was not supported by a majority of a full court. Such a majority would be five members.

The fact that the corporation tax cases were not set for reargument is taken to mean that a decision will be announced in regard to the constitutionality of the law authorizing it in a short time.

The reassignment of the big suits came as a complete surprise. Such a reassignment was anticipated by some last Monday, when the court met after the death of Justice Brewer. When it was not forthcoming at that time it was generally believed that decisions of the cases would be announced soon.

Surprise to Wickersham.

Attorney General Wickersham was as much surprised as any one at the sudden turn in the fight against these corporations. He expressed his utter ignorance of any further knowledge of the action of the court other than the announcement of Chief Justice Fuller.

This was simply that "Nos. 316 and 317, the American Tobacco company vs. the United States, and the United States vs. the American Tobacco company, and No. 725, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey vs. the United States, are restored to their place on the docket for reargument."

Unless a motion to advance these cases is made they will not come up in the regular order of business for nearly a year. It is regarded as improbable that such a motion for reargument before next term will be made.

Only three more weeks of this term remain for hearing the argument of cases, although the court has come in before its adjournment, about June 1, to hear arguments in a particular case.

New Judge to Hear.

The effect of the reargument will doubtless be to have the successor of Justice Brewer, whomsoever he may be, participate in the consideration of these cases. The choice of the successor may be made more difficult on account of the complication. Solicitor General Bowers has been mentioned prominently for the vacancy, and now the question arises as to whether he would be eligible to sit in the tobacco and oil cases.

FIND REMAINS OF OLD RACE

Skulls Without Teeth and Jointed Dolls Unearthed in Mexico.

Mexico City, April 12.—Excavations at San Juan Teotihuacan, in the valley of Mexico, have revealed remains of another buried civilization beneath the Toltec ruins. Professor William Niven, a well known archaeologist and mineralogist, reports that the objects that are now being brought to light were covered with a thick layer of volcanic ashes. Skulls of human beings that show no trace of teeth have been uncovered, and this leads to the belief that the strange people were vegetarians. A number of dolls with jointed limbs were also uncovered. Many other curious objects and implements have been found and placed in the national museum. It is evident that four different civilizations have occupied the valley of Mexico. The first were the unknown people; the second, the Toltec; the third, the Aztec, and the fourth the present inhabitants.

Dog Poisoner at Burlington.

Burlington, N. J., April 12.—Police are making an active search for a fiend who has been scattering dog poison about the western section of the city. Twelve dogs, some of them valuable animals, have been killed.

Lincoln, Neb., Again "Dry."

Lincoln, Neb., April 12.—After the hottest fight ever known in this city, Lincoln voted "dry" by 1000 majority. Last year the city went dry by 365 votes.

The sooner soil is harrowed after being plowed the more completely will it retain the moisture at and near the surface, for the blanket of fine, mellow earth thus made checks a rapid evaporation of the moisture. Since this is so a delaying of the harrowing will serve to more quickly dry a soil that contains more moisture than is required for the proper germination of the seed which is to be placed there. In sections of the west where moisture is at a premium strict attention is paid this fact of moisture conservation.

Of all shortsighted initial economies there is none worse than the buying of runty and unthrifty fruit trees just because they can be got cheap, and this is true whether one is setting an orchard for himself or expects to turn it over to some customer at bearing age. It is the start a tree gets, as in the case of a calf or a pig, during the first three years that largely determines not only its later beauty, but utility as a horticultural thing, and hence every reasonable precaution should be taken to see that the choice of the young trees as well as the care given should be of the best.

A fellow may not suffer anything more than physical discomfort if he orders his undershirt and prunes from a distant mail order house, but he had better pass the practice up when it comes to grass seed and order from a home man who he can bat with a stuffed club if the seed is not pure and as represented. Not as yet is there in force an adequate federal pure seed law; hence a fellow has no recourse for damages if he orders from a firm outside of his own state and gets worthless or even pernicious grass seed. A number of states have effective pure seed laws, and where seller and buyer reside in such states the latter's rights are amply safeguarded.

THE HANGING OF PAT DOOLAN

By MARTHA M'GUIRE.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Pat Doolan was the bravest, handsomest, quickest witted, most reckless harebrained scamp in Ireland. Everybody knew Pat, and every one who knew him loved him. He was always getting into trouble, and his facility for doing so was equalled by his talents for getting out again. His hair was red and curly, his complexion soft and peachy as that of a girl, but he was strong and wiry and not afraid of the devil himself.

Pat was an Irishman and a patriot from the crown of his head to the sole of his foot. He was always getting in the way of the British officials, who willy nilly were obliged to stumble over him, and that meant that he was constantly being brought up before a magistrate for some breach of the law. But the magistrates and the bailiffs all loved him so well that they were always either letting him off openly or confining at his escape from justice. The trouble is that Pat's escapades were always connected with some movement against British rule, and in this he had a large proportion of the people with him.

But when the rebellion of '17—came on and failed, Pat, who had given the government more trouble than any other ten rebels, was tried, found guilty of treason and sentenced to be hanged. There was great lamentation through the country at Pat's fate, and in those parts where he was personally known had the people not just failed at one rebellion they would have started another to save him.

Pat continued to crack his jokes, eat all that was given him—good things came for him in basketfuls to the jail—and drank the health of his jailers when a bottle was smuggled in with the rest. As the day approached for his execution knots of his friends gathered and debated different methods of saving him. Some talked of a rescue, but rescues are seldom successful, especially when those appointed to carry out a sentence are prepared to resist the rescuers. No one could learn whether any of the plans proposed would be undertaken. There were those who looked knowing and those who were full of fight and those whose close tongues—an unusual thing for an Irishman—gave the impression that they were "still waters running deep." But the day for the execution came round, and there was no evidence of any well defined plan to save Pat's life.

Though as many of Pat's friends as wished were permitted to be present at the hanging, there were plenty of officials within call to prevent the possibility of interference with the carrying out of the sentence. Indeed, there were not more than half a dozen of those who loved Pat gathered about the scaffold, and they were there with a cart to remove the body after it had been taken down.

Pat ascended the scaffold with a jaunty step. Eileen McKenna, his sweetheart at the time, had sent him a tremendous flower, which he wore in his buttonhole; his hair had been carefully attended to, though no brush could get the kinks out of it, and he wore a beautiful smile. He approached the rope, examined it, tested it to discern whether it would hold, then tried to get the loop over his head.

"I can't do it," he said, "and if I could I wouldn't hang with any convenience, for the rope is too short. I demand my rights to be hanged safely, and there's no safety in that gallow at all at all."

Taking a caddy pipe and some tobacco from his pocket, he rubbed the latter between the palms of his hands, filled his pipe, scratched a match on his leg and began to smoke.

The sheriff called some one to improve the gallows, and Pat smoked and pictured to him in words what an inhuman calling was his. "I forgive ye for what you're goin' to do to me," said Pat, "but d'ye think ye'll be forgiven by our patron saint? I have an idea that the hottest part of purgatory is kept for those who make a livin' by stretchin' necks and choppin' off heads. As for me, don't mention it. I wouldn't grudge you the pay ye'll git for makin' me a corpse for a hundred years of life."

The sheriff was much affected by this address and said he'd rather Pat would hang him than he hang Pat.

"How long must I be hangin'?" asked Pat.

"The law says an hour."

"Well, thin, get at it. It's an hour before supper. I'll be too early for it in this world, and I don't want to be too late for it in the other."

As the rope was adjusted Pat's friends crowded up on to the scaffold to bid him goodby. When he was swung off he fell against one of them—purposely in the way—which somewhat broke the fall. When it was over the sheriff turned his back, and while doing so Pat's friends somewhat relieved the strain on his neck by holding him up by the waistband. But this they were only enabled to do when the sheriff was not looking.

At the end of an hour timed by set back watches the body was let down, put in a coffin and run over a rough road in a cart. This was intended to bring Pat to his senses. And it did. He sat up in his coffin and cried at the top of his voice:

"Hurrah for ould Ireland!"

That night Pat's wake occurred, with Pat for chief mourner.

One of the interesting geological formations of Wyoming is the extensive areas of decomposed red granite noticeable between Cheyenne and Buford, on the line of the Union Pacific.

Having to excavate large quantities of this disintegrated rock in the lowering of the right of way, those in charge of the work hit upon the idea of using it as ballast for the road long distances in either direction. The rock was handled with slight expense by means of steam shovels from bank to car, and so excellent ballast did it prove that it has been used as a surface material for the road and depot grounds from Omaha westward. It is firm, holds its place and gathers little moisture, thus reducing the rot to a minimum.

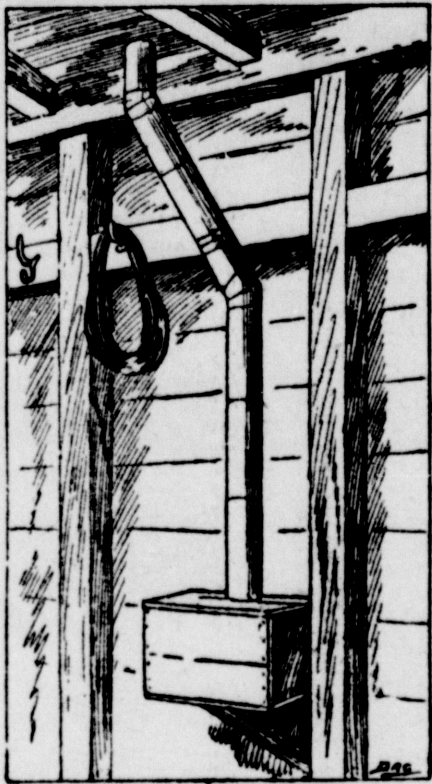

The Crop Reporter for February, issued under the supervision of the department of agriculture at Washington, contains some interesting statistics relative to the number and value of farm animals in the country Jan. 1, 1910, as compared with the showing of a year prior. The number of horses shown on Jan. 1, 1910, is 21,049,000, their value being placed at $2,276,333,000, or an average of $108.19 per head. This is an increase in number of 400,000, while the average value per head shows an increase of about $12.50 for the period. The total number of mules at the last report was 4,123,000, an increase of 70,000 during the year and an increase in value per animal of $12. Although swine show a decrease in numbers of 6,365,000 in a total of 47,782,000, the increase in total value is $81,809,000, or $2.50 per head during the year. The number of sheep is placed at 57,216,000. This is an increase during the year of 1,132,000, the total increase in value being $41,032,000, or 45 cents per head.

HOMEMADE FEED BOX.

A Good Suggestion by Horseman For Saving Space in Barn.

As space on the ground floor of many horse barns is very often limited, it is more than likely that farmers are anxious to learn of any device that will tend to enlarge it without any additional expense. A prominent horseman suggests an inexpensive fixture that is useful the year round.

Build a large oat bin in the loft of the barn. Then tin it carefully to keep out mice. Connect a galvanized iron leader pipe to the bottom of it and bring this down to a place near the stable door, where a box should be nailed up with a corner on it. It should be constructed so that the cover can be opened, but not so that it will stay open. The oats will flow down and partly fill the box and stop when the bottom of the chute is covered. It is easy for the busy teamster to dip out what he desires to feed. This chute will conduct oats, wheat, barley or any whole grain, but clogs with ground feed.

To put up the leader is a quick and easy job, for three inch leader comes in two foot lengths that are just right, and the elbows are made with right but movable joints that may be turned in any direction, permitting the worker to follow around a post if necessary. As the joints fit tightly together, no soldering is needed.

A WORD FOR THE MULE.

Easy and Cheap to Raise and Brings a Good Price.

A prominent breeder who has experimented with mules says:

Any man who has enough land of the kind to make grass will in almost any state now find mule raising very profitable if he will get the right sort of mare and keep the colts growing right along till they make the necessary size.

The mares must be of good size. The mule will be sure to get his size from his dam, and if he is kept growing right along he will be good for a fair price as a two-year-old and for a better one at three. And yet the cost will not be more than that of a steer of the same age.

Feeding is another important factor in mule raising. Either corn or oats are good feed to use with alfalfa hay. They will give better results if used together than if either one is fed alone. If the mules do not seem to eat as much as they should mix shelled corn and oats, equal parts by weight, and grind them. Feed only a little ground feed at first and gradually increase it as they get accustomed to the change. Some of the mules may not eat any more of the ground feed than of the whole corn and oats, but what they do eat will do them more good.

A little blackstrap molasses mixed with the grain would make it more palatable after they once become used to it, increasing the consumption of feed and consequently making faster gains.

THE DAIRYMAN

Gargetted Milk Dangerous. Gargetted milk, caused by "carget," which is a diseased and inflamed condition of the cow's udder, causes sore throat, scarlet fever and cholera.

Don't Color the Butter. A cow that gives rich milk and is kept in good condition will produce a butter that does not need coloring matter at all.

To Make Butter Firm. If after churning the butter is not firm try leaving it in the buttermilk a few hours. This often makes a wonderful change.

Cleanliness Valuable. Clean milk cannot come out of a dirty cow or from a filthy stable, nor can good cream be obtained where there are bad odors or dusty hay.

Handle the Young Cow Gently. Deal gently with the young cow when breaking her in to be milked. Talk kindly to her before you begin. Rub her sides softly and have her feel that the milking process makes her more comfortable.

Calf Should Be Taught Early. Teach the calf to drink milk from the first day. It will be impossible for it to learn so easily later on.

If the truth were known it would probably come to light that the increased cost of living is due to a substantial increase in freight and express rates as well as to a perceptible inflation of the circulating medium and scarcity of some staple food supplies. This advance in transportation rates has been very quietly made, but the increase has been considerable, and the middleman and distributor in order to come out whole has had to add this advance to the prices he had been previously asking for his goods, which were already high.

There is nothing calculated to check milk flow in a dairy cow more effectually than being chased around a yard by a cursing, loud mouthed man or boy and being ever and anon pounded over head or rump with club or milk stool. Not long ago we saw a pretty likely looking heifer put through this kind of mill by a couple of little heathens, whose treatment would be sufficient to cause a cow to give skimmilk, sour milk or no milk at all. It may suffice to say that the father of these boys wasn't in the dairy business for profit or he would have got busy on the boys with a big slat.
